Success Stories

It was a long trek. But I trained for it and made it to the top of Mt. Kilimanjaro (note the smile!), the tallest mountain in Africa. I returned to Austin in one piece ready to tell my story. Read about it in the Austin American-Statesman early in 2000.

But why wait until then to tell your story? If your company has a compelling story to tell – and every company does – let me help you flush it out.

Stronger than testimonials, success stories and case studies promote brand awareness and reinforce your installed base – the strongest predictors of future sales.

Call or email. Let's discuss the story you or your company has to tell and talk about my reasonable rates.
